Interview

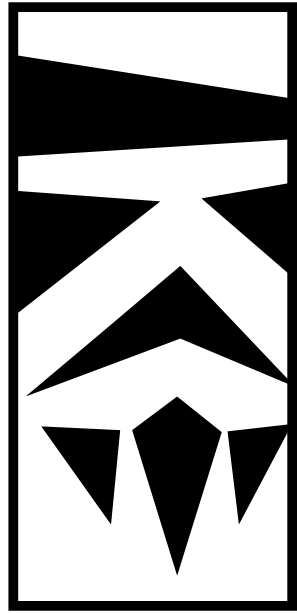

Kyle Dornbos – Never Tell Me the Odds

I've been playing miniatures games since seventh grade, when I got hooked on the gateway drug that was Warhammer 40k. I have been a huge Star Wars fan since my formative years. Once Star Wars: Legion came out, I knew it was the game I had always wanted to play.

An accountant by trade, I've always had an affinity for stats and numbers. Legion provided the perfect outlet for me to use my mundane skills in more interesting ways.

I started a blog, Never Tell Me the Odds (swlegionodds.com), to share my love of stats with the Legion Community. I am also an avid hobbyist, carrying over my passion for painting and converting from Warhammer.
